THE PERSPECTIVE

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY The best of the Agency's analysts have given up on this one. After the Cuban fiasco, the odds were umpteen-to-one that Richard Bissell, the operation's mastermind and No. 3 man in the CIA, would be replaced. The agency now has a new chief, John McCone, the No. 3 man. Gen. Charles Cabell, father of the 102, has retired (and has not yet been replaced). Bissell, however, is still sitting in the No. 3 slot. 101A
